

Listening and Reading

Introduction to Teacher Group

- Group teachers: David(Main Teacher), Joe (Leader), Olivia (Supervisor)
- This series of courses will teach all English listening and reading comprehension using New Concept English as teaching materials. After students have a certain basis of English, we will begin to increase the difficulty of vocabulary, teach more complex sentence structures, and more thorough grammar usage

Teaching Objectives

- Increasing children's interest in learning English and making them feel more willing to listen, read, and understand the English as a language
 - Listening part:
 - enable students to understand some basic dialogues and questions, form muscle memory, and then make correct full-English responses
 - Make it clear and well-organized, able to distinguish between written grammar and oral expression
 - Master the ability to partially analyze the context of English
 - Speaking part:
 - Enable students to do have conversations in English with 0% grammatical errors
 - can organize what they want to say in their mind and express it in English
 - Make sure that every word or phrase learned is pronounced correctly
 - Reading part:
 - Enable students to understand some long and difficult sentences, especially the positioning of basic grammatical parts of speech in the sentence
 - Master the ability to analyze the structure of sentences
 - Writing part:
 - After the study of vocabulary , students should be able to write more expressive sentence patterns, instead of phrases or simple sentences formed by 2-3 words
 - Can write the correct answer format for 5 types of questioning sentences.
 - make them to try to write sentences with more thorough expression

(Ps: Each lesson will contain the study of vocabulary and daily conversation learning. The content of the Reading & Listening course is more than these 12 lessons, and subsequent courses will be taught after students have mastered these 12 lessons.)
